

Further Reading

<http://www.nationalgallery.org.uk>

The National Gallery in London houses one of the greatest collections of paintings in the world.

<http://www.royalacademy.org.uk>

The Royal Academy of Arts in London aims to promote not just the appreciation and understanding of art, but also its practice.

<http://www.wallacecollection.org>

The Wallace Collection in London showcases unsurpassed displays of French 18th-century painting, furniture and porcelain with superb Old Master paintings and a world-class armoury.

<http://www.wildlifeart.org>

The National Museum of Wildlife Art features more than 550 artists and over 5,000 catalogued items. Dating from 2500 BCE to the present, the collection chronicles much of the history of wildlife in art.

<http://www.uffizi.org>

The Uffizi Gallery Museum in Florence is one of the most famous museums in the world. It showcases unique artworks and masterpieces, most of which are from the Renaissance period.

<http://www.louvre.fr>

The Louvre Gallery Museum in Paris showcases western artworks from the Middle Ages to 1848, as well as the art of the ancient civilisations that influenced them. Some 35,000 artworks are on display, the oldest of which date back over 7,000 years.

<http://www.centrepompidou.fr>

The Centre Pompidou in Paris is the largest museum of modern art in Europe, and one of the most renowned in the world.

<http://www.Musee-orsay.fr>

Musée d'Orsay in Paris houses the largest collection of impressionist and post-impressionist masterpieces in the world by painters including Monet, Manet, Degas, Renoir, Cézanne, Seurat, Sisley, Gauguin and Van Gogh.

<http://www.nationalgalleries.org>

The National Galleries of Scotland's permanent collection dates from the early Renaissance to the present day. It boasts works by some of the most important artists in history, as well as portraits of great Scots and the world's most comprehensive collection of Scottish art.

<http://www.thebricklanegallery.com>

The Brick Lane Gallery in London showcases eclectic displays of contemporary art by British and international emerging or established artists.

<http://www.mallgalleries.org.uk>

Mall Galleries in London provides a national focal point for contemporary figurative art.

www.artsandculture.google.com – see exhibitions from galleries all over the world. Experience a virtual tour and access the collections of different museums.

<https://www.theartnewspaper.com/podcast> - listen to discussions and information on the latest art exhibitions.

Look up BBC iPlayer for programmes on Art such as Anthony Gormley's How Art Began or Titian, Behind Closed Doors.

The National Gallery also has its own videos on art, follow the link to find out more about the collection - <https://www.nationalgallery.org.uk/stories>

Sky Arts has regular art programmes well worth watching such as Sky Portrait Artist of the Year and Sky Landscape Artist of the Year. Explore Sky Arts to see their collection of art programmes.

Check out The Guardian Art and Design pages for latest reviews and what's on (virtually)! <https://www.theguardian.com/artanddesign>

Look up TED Art Talks for a different take on the subject. Learn about how famous artists got started, how to bounce back from a mistake and feel inspired by others around you.

Watch Abstract: The Art of Design on Netflix to see the thinking behind some of the most famous artists and designers in the world and the source of their inspiration.